

Unesco Education Data Release: New Indicators and More Data for Countries in Every Region [1]

The UIS (Unesco Institute for Statistics) has issued its most important education data release of the year, with a series of newly developed indicators to inform the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) and a wider range of data. From early childhood educational development programmes to tertiary and adult education, the release includes updated data for 2015 and for the 2016 reference year in a small number of countries.
